

The primary mission of The Ohrid Academy of Humanism is to continue the vision of St. Clement and St. Naum, founders of the first university in this part of Europe, which was in the same time the first school of humanism, established in the 9th century.

They were the students of the apostles Ss. Cyril and Methodius. In 1980, the Pope John Paul II proclaimed Ss. Cyril and Methodius for Patrons of Europe.

Ohrid – the city of UNESCO is known as “The Slavic Jerusalem” or “Balkan Venice”, celebrating the glory of Lichnidos (the antique name of Ohrid) - The City of light, all around the world.
